

The Four Seasons

Summer

Fall

Winter

Spring

Signs of the Four Seasons

Spring March- June Weather: Windy; rainy; some days warm and sunny; longer days Wildlife: Birds singing a lot; birds making nests; some flying insects such as bumblebees and flies; hummingbirds; squirrels busy, insects such as slugs and ants on the ground; frogs singing Plants: Lots of new growth and shoots; lots of flowers and new buds; plants that lost their leaves in winter getting new leaves; seedlings growing	Winter December- March Weather: Cold; windy; snow; frost; ice; rainy; crisp clear; very short days Wildlife: Birds in flocks; some birds singing; not very many flying insects; easy to find tracks in mud; some insects under rocks and logs; some squirrels; woodpeckers; mole holes Plants: Little or no new growth; not very many flowers; some berries left; leaves fallen off many trees and plants; leaves on the ground; only evergreens have leaves; cones on some trees	Fall September-December Weather: Windy; cool mornings; warm days; dew in the morning; frost; some rain; stormy; days getting shorter Wildlife: Spider webs all around; birds in flocks; squirrels busy; mole holes; woolly caterpillars; ladybugs; geese honking Plants: Leaves turning brown, yellow and red and falling off; summer plants turning brown; lots of seeds and berries; cones; a few flowers; branches falling from storms	Summer June-September Weather: Sunny; foggy; cloudy and muggy; breezes; warm and hot days; days are long; not much rain Wildlife: Birds singing a lot; birds feeding babies; lots of flying insects such as butterflies, bees, flies, mosquitoes; bullfrogs croaking; snakes and lizards in sunny places Plants: Lots of new growth and big leaves; lots of flowers and berries; plants thick with leaves and new branches; grasses are tall; lots of seeds
-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Attach to the back of the image and laminate. The seasonal signs will lay behind the corresponding image.